Cynthia Kahn has been creating art her entire life. She was the only Business major in her college Advanced Drawing classes. Post college, Cynthia continued her art education through classes at the Multnomah Art Center in Portland, OR. Cynthia enjoys traditional oil and acrylic painting, but also loves expanding her art with fabric, drywall sculpture and non-traditional mixed media. Don't be surprised if you see her at Lowe's or Home Depot purchasing supplies for her next project. Cynthia recently moved to Austin from the Pacific Northwest, where her work was regularly displayed at art shows throughout the region. She looks forward to becoming an active member of the Austin art scene.
