I began painting five years ago. Largely self-taught, I keep the earliest pieces hanging in my studio to remind me of where I started. My paintings are a personal expression of where I am in my life and they continue to evolve as I do. I continue to learn, innovate, and add extra depth to each new work, sometimes ten or more layers of paint in bits of the canvas.

As visitors explore my portfolio, I hope they'll see the evolution of my journey, reflections on some of my influences and the inspiration behind some of my latest works.
