Kimberly Jungkind studied art in the West Indies for years. Her early work includes colorful Caribbean fish, boat races and windswept yachts. She is a Founding member of the Osprey Society - a select group of plein air artists. Her work has been sold internationally, has been featured at a beachside resort in Grenada, at the St. Georges University Medical School and in local Texas wineries.

Her current passion has been painting Aspens in different seasons after multiple trips to Colorado. Her multi-layered dimensional and textured impasto technique of painting can be seen in her Aspen tree art. Enjoy the Aspens!
