I started sketching and painting because I was driven by an urgent need to heal from the cumulative lifelong trauma of being an Autistic, ADHD trans-man who wasn't able to change gender until age 60.

Along the way, I realized that everyone has trauma, and that working with colors can help with healing. I've also realized that there's a war on color, as seen by the shift from colorful cars, houses, clothes, etc, to blah neutral grays, blacks and dark blues.

So I see it as my mission as an artist to create huge heart-soaring colors to lift people's spirits!
